Finding Aid for the Morgan, Walls, and Clements Architectural Drawing Collection

The Morgan, Walls, & Clements architectural collection held by the Huntington Library in San Marino contains original drawings and microfilm of drawings and correspondence dating between 1895 and 1960. Materials include sets of original drawings for 129 projects from 1900 to 1960, and microfilm of drawings for more than 600 projects from 1895 to 1951, as well as over 10,000 pieces of business correspondence from the 1930s. Many of the plan sets are incomplete, and the material represents only a portion of the firm's entire output. All of the microfilmed drawings and correspondence has been scanned, digitized, and made available online on the Huntington Library website. Inquires regarding the collection should be directed to:

This Excel format finding aid only covers the microfilm drawings that are available for download on the Huntington Library website (i.e., Reels 1 thru 20). A finding aid for the entire MWC collection held by the Huntington may be found online at oac.cdlib.org, the Online Archive of California.

In accessing the microfilm drawings on the Huntington Library website, it is noted that it is easy to miss drawings because each reel is organized alphabetically. This organization creates a potential problem since client names were not consistently assigned and MWC often worked on the same building under different ownership. These factors can result in drawings for a given building being found on multiple reels. In addition, little effort was made during the microfilming process to organize the drawings by project and drawing number.

To overcome these issues, each drawing was reviewed and the original finding aid prepared by the Huntington Library was expanded to include reel number, frame number, project number, and year. Availble address data, which was presented as a single text string, was reformatted to provide unique fields for address number, street direction, and street name.

Upon completion of the draft finding aid, multiple sorts were conducted to identify missing data. Many fields could be easily filled in based on data from other drawings in the project set. This effort was followed by research to identify additional addresses. When an address was listed as NE corner of X and Y, for example, an attempt was made to show an approximate numeric address using Google maps. All assumed entries are shown in red.

Thanks go to Erin Chase at the Huntington Library who gratiously provided a copy of her draft finding aid for the microfilm portion of the MWC collection. Any and all errors found in this Excel work product are mine and I welcome comment for any future revision. All comments and corrections should be directed to:
